GENERAL REPORT OF THE SEASON.

IN reviewing the work of the past year it is most gratifying to record a further increase of 67 members. This is a record in the history of the Corps, and it is to be hoped that in the coming season still more will join our ranks. There is a considerable number of able-bodied young men who hold aloof from the movement, and it should be the duty of every member to endeavour to induce those unconverted to join the Corps. The remarks of Major-General E. S. May, C.B., C.M.G., when inspecting the Calcutta Light Horse last season might well be quoted. He said that "should at any time the services of the Volunteers be required to protect women and children what would be the feelings of the non-Volunteer populace when they found that instead of being of help they were a burden and a nuisance." "God help them!": so say all of us.

The Government have at present under consideration a scheme for the formation of a motor cyclist section in each Volunteer Corps. This should prove an inducement to motor cyclists and carmen who have not yet joined the Corps to do so now. It is proposed to attach motor cars for transport purposes, and one qualified mechanic to each section.

It was with the deepest regret that we heard of the resignation of our popular Commandant, Colonel G. Grant Gordon, C.I.E., V.D.—and more especially that it was due to ill health. Colonel Grant Gordon joined the Corps in 1885 as a Trooper, and worked his way up to the Command—a position he held for 7 years. He represented the Corps at the Coronation of His Majesty King Edward VII, and again at the Delhi Coronation Durbars of 1903 and 1911. The later accounts of Colonel Grant Gordon's health are more reassuring, and he has the best wishes of every member of the Corps for a speedy and complete recovery.

The Adult Branch has been re-armed with the new M.L.E. Short Rifle. The Musketry returns for the season show a great improvement on previous years; and when members become more accustomed to the new weapon, still greater progress may be anticipated.

The Regimental, Squadron, and Company Prize Shooting competitions held throughout the year were keenly contested.

"C" Squadron was inspected by Brigadier-General K. E. Lean, C.B., Inspector of Volunteers in India, at Mal on the 28th January: 75 of all ranks were on parade. The Inspecting Officer expressed his satisfaction with the general turn out, capabilities, and efficiency; and though he quite understood the difficulties we had to contend with owing to the scattered nature of the district, thought that a great deal might be done to increase efficiency by individual members at their own homes.

Major-General E. S. May, C.B., C.M.G., Commanding Presidency Brigade, inspected the Head Quarters Office and Accounts at Darjeeling, on the 4th July 1913, and was extremely pleased with the system of accounts and the method of recording correspondence.

The Corps is in a sound financial condition.

A full account of our Annual Camp of Exercise held at Jalpaiguri from the 16th to the 21st February will be found elsewhere in this Report. Suffice it to say here that great keenness was shown; and despite the inclement weather, the turn out of both men and horses was very workmanlike; and the capable manner in which the various drills and manœuvres were executed bore testimony to the desire of each member to contribute to the general efficiency of the Corps.

The messing in Camp was carried out Regimentally: a considerable saving.

About 50 members from the Duars and Darjeeling districts did two useful days' work in concentrating and carrying out practical work while on the march.

"I" Company held a local Camp at Darjeeling in May, and it is hoped that during the ensuing year all the Cadet Companies will be able to hold Training Camps.

Field Days were held throughout the year; and considering the distances members had to travel, they were all well attended. Two Troops of "K" Squadron had an instructive day on the Kalchini River, operating against a double Company of the 114th Mahrattas from Buxa Duars.

COMMANDANT, N.B.M. RIFLES, from 19th March 1907 to 16th September 1913.

A Fund for the purchase of chargers has been inaugurated; and our thanks are due to the Officer Commanding, "C" Squadron, and the several Calcutta Agency Houses for their handsome donations. The Fund is intended to give loans to members of the Corps for the purchase of suitable chargers, the loan being repaid by small monthly instalments. This Fund should prove a great boon to the younger members of the Corps, as apart from the advantage of a loan without interest, they will receive the benefit of expert advice in the selection of a charger from a special Committee.

The progress of the Cadet Companies during the past season has been most gratifying, and the increase in efficiency is very marked. These very useful Companies are well drilled, handle their arms effectively, and have a high standard of marksmanship. It is hoped they may soon be re-armed with the new short Lee Enfield Rifle.

All the Cadet Companies were inspected by the General Officer Commanding, Presidency Brigade, at their respective stations between July and September, who expressed himself well satisfied with them.

The introduction of a Regimental Master Tailor with Tailor's Shop at Head Quarters has proved a great success, and all members are now in possession of uniform. The Tailor's Shop is worked on similar lines to those of Regular Regiments, and Recruits can be fitted immediately on joining.

The Master Tailor visits Squadron Head Quarters and the outstations of the Corps periodically.

Revised Corps Rules are under preparation, and will shortly be issued to all concerned. It is hoped that each member will carefully peruse these Rules, strict adherence to which is necessary to ensure uniformity throughout the Corps.

The Mounted Branch is now equipped with excellent military saddlery, Staff Officer's pattern.

It is proposed to have complete sets of mobilization equipment on charge at Squadron Head Quarters for issue to the Troop forming the movable column of each district.

The Machine Gun at present on charge is obsolete and of little value ; but it is hoped that before next cold weather we shall be in possession of the latest type of Maxim for pack transport, which would be the most suitable for our districts in the Hills and the Duars.

The Head Quarters Office, Tailor's Shop, and Stores again moved into Camp Quarters at Jalpaiguri from the 1st November to the 15th April. This arrangement has greatly facilitated the administration of the Corps, as the Adjutant is enabled to tour in the Terai and Duars during the cold weather, and attend parades and tour in the Hills during the early summer and after the rains.

A combined Armoury and Sergeant Instructor's Quarters has been built at Kurseong during the past season with the aid of a Government grant. This building has met a long felt necessity.

For some time past the question of the safe custody of the arms of "I" Company at Kalimpong has been under consideration, and this has now been provided for from Corps funds by the construction of a good Armoury.

A grant has been received from Government for the construction of an Armoury at Nagrakata on the Bhutan border, the head quarters of "G" Squadron, and the work is now in hand ; but the difficulties of obtaining suitable contractors, and the extra working expenses in this district has caused considerable delay.

The Head Quarters bungalow of "K" Squadron at Kalchini was badly built and quite incapable of withstanding the severe climate at this station. Nearly Rs. 1,000 has had to be spent from Corps funds for rebuilding the servants' quarters, stables and cook-house, and a further sum will be necessary for the satisfactory repair of the Bungalow and armoury during the ensuing season.

When the present Drill Hall and Head Quarters building at Darjeeling was taken over, no provision was made for the necessary quarters for the Indian establishment. It is hoped to construct suitable quarters during the present season, but the cost of these buildings will be a great strain on the funds of the Corps. Every endeavour is however being made to construct "pucka" buildings and thus avoid the constant recurring expenditure for repairs.

LIEUT-COLONEL GEORGE FREDERICK STODDART,

During the last rains a surface slip occurred just in front of the Head Quarters Office, Darjeeling, and a grant was received from Government for the revetment of the bank. This revetment has been well carried out, and with an additional sum from Corps funds a really good Riding School has been made below the Head Quarters building. Parades are held daily in this Riding School, and are well attended.

"B" Squadron has now a large parade ground at Mirik constructed from funds collected locally and a grant from the Corps.

REGIMENTAL CAMP OF EXERCISE.

On Saturday, the 14th February, some 30 members of "C" and "G" Squadrons concentrated at Mal, and marched to Neora Nadi across country and billeted in the Tea Factory for the night.

Trooper Hendry did everything possible for the comfort of the members, and had good temporary stables erected for the horses.

About midnight a couple of sections of "K" Squadron arrived by goods train from Madari Hát, having ridden to the Ghat from Kalchini and missed the first train.

Early on the morning of the 15th the "Boot and Saddle" sounded, and syces were dispensed with, and the party, as one Squadron under Major F. E. Wood, marched off for Jalpaiguri with advance and flank guards. On arrival at Domohani the river Chel had to be forded, and it is very nasty and treacherous just here. The light transport, which consisted of a motor car, stuck, and had to be helped over the long stretch of sand. Next the Tista River was negotiated, which was a slow process, only 8 horses being able to cross on the ferry at once.

A Troop composed of members from "A" and "B" Squadrons and the Jalpaiguri Troop of "C" under Captain Little rode out to the Ghat, and having taken up a strong position with excellent cover ambushed the Duars Squadron. It had commenced to rain heavily, and they were not discovered till a heavy fire opened on the main body, the advance guard being allowed to pass unmolested. Some excellent instruction was thus gained besides the march discipline. The two parties then joined and marched into Camp together.

On Monday the 16th February the Regiment paraded dismounted at 7 A.M. under Officers Commanding Squadrons. Non-Commissioned Officers were given the opportunity of commanding Troops, and the Maxim Gun Company under Lieutenant Shea received practical instruction.

At 9-30 A.M. the Regiment again paraded under the Commandant, and was drilled in close and extended order and dismounted action. Later on Officers Commanding Squadrons and Troop Leaders each had a turn at drill. Owing to the high standard of intelligence and horsemanship of the men in the ranks, the Squadrons shook down into shape wonderfully soon. Some time however was spent in leading horses which could have been employed more usefully in higher training if only members realized that elementary training is the first essential towards efficiency.

More can be done by individual members preparing themselves in their homes, by seeing that their horses are quiet to mount and dismount, by practising themselves to do so quickly with their rifles, and having their ponies taught to lead well. Non-Commissioned Officers should as often as possible collect a few, even 3 or 4 men, and practise quickly taking up fire positions, fire control and discipline and patrol work, so that when Camp takes place elementary training should be perfect.

The Inter-Squadron Shooting Competition took place in the afternoon, "G" Squadron being the winner.

On Tuesday the 17th February the Regiment paraded mounted at 8-30 A.M., and was practised at getting across country from cover to cover by Squadrons and Troops, and rapidly dismounting and opening fire; Troops supporting each other in Advance and Retirement by covering fire. It was a stiff country, and it was noticed that some of the horses had had very little practice at getting across country over the "bunds", thus preventing their Squadron from moving with the necessary precision and dash. All ranks should be imbued with the idea that steadiness in drill is the first essential for successful manoeuvre.

Owing to the inclement weather prevailing on Wednesday the 18th, it was found impossible to hold a mounted parade, the whole Camp being inundated. A lecture was however held in the Mess House by the Adjutant on reconnaissance, horsemanship, and long distance riding with economy of horseflesh. The power of making long and rapid marches without loss in numbers or energy is one of the chief factors of success in war. This power can only be maintained by the exercise of constant care for the welfare of the horses. Unless it becomes a habit to the mounted man to save his horse on every possible occasion in peace time, he will neglect to do so in war, with the result that in a short time the efficient Trooper may become an inefficient Foot Soldier.

It was gratifying to see the keenness among the members, and the interest taken in stable management; a large number gave personal attention to their horses during the bad weather, giving a pleasant restorative in the shape of bottled beer.

The rain being over, Thursday was devoted to field work, and a simple attack scheme was carried out against the Camp, ably defended by the Maxim Gun Company commanded by Lieutenant Shea. A great improvement was noticed, and the attack by the mounted men was well carried out.

On Friday the Regiment turned out at 8 A.M. to receive Major-General E. S. May, C.B., C.M.G., Commanding Presidency Brigade, the Inspecting Officer. He was received in line of Squadron Columns, and after the inspection, Long Service Medals were presented to Captain H. G. Cotton and Troopers D. Monckton and C. H. Smith. The Regiment then moved off to Domohani Ghat, the rendezvous for the tactical exercise. Here the scheme was explained, which briefly was as follows:—

A party of looters armed with indifferent rifles held up Dungajhar Factory about 5 miles north of the Camp, and were represented by the Jalpaiguri Military Police. The Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles were called in from the Duars to capture them.

GENERAL VIEW, CAMP, JALPAIGURI.

The operations lasted about 3 to 4 hours, and after the "Cease Fire" sounded the General Officer Commanding congratulated the Commandant and Officers on the smart turn out and field work, and said that he was sure that should ever the occasion arise they would give a good account of themselves.

General May lunched with the members at the Mess House, but unfortunately could not stay for the Inspection Dinner, having to leave for Calcutta that evening.

On Saturday the 21st February, the last day of the Camp, all were astir early, as the programme was as usual a very full one. The Proficiency Examination was held at 8-30 A.M., and the undermentioned candidates were successful:—

2nd Lieutenant A. S. MacAlister.

Sergeant R. P. Watson.

Sergeant G. J. Turbett.

Sergeant J. M. Walker.

Sergeant J. Edmond.

Lance-Corporal R. T. Boileau.

Trooper S. Bostock Smith.

Judging for the best turned out man took place, and Corporal Cornish was adjudged the winner, with Troopers Abrahall and Ball close runners up.

The remainder of the day was taken up with Point-to-Point Race, Assault-at-Arms, and Sports.

HONORARY SECRETARY.

A. D. Hickley, Esq.

FIRST DAY—TUESDAY, 17TH FEBRUARY 1914.

FIRST RACE. THE NEW MART CUP—Presented by Messrs. J Thomas & Co. For English and Australian ponies 14-1 and under, and other ponies 14-2 and under. W. I., 4 furlongs.

Prince Narayan of Cooch Behar's ch aus mare
Coin 11; 10-7 1
Mr. L. C. Daunt's b e m Dosh, 11-8 2

Only two started for this—the opening race. Coin II led the whole way, and won as she liked.

SECOND RACE. THE KAKINA CUP—Presented by the Hon'ble Raja of Kakina for all ponies 14-2 and under. W. I., 6 furlongs.

Mr. L. C. Daunt's b e m Royal Gift, 10-7 1
„ B. N. Chowdhury's b aust m Water Lily, 11-11 ...	2
Major W. L. Goss's ch aust g Encourage, 11-8 ...	3
Prince Victor Narayan of Cooch Behar's Tod, 10-4 ...	0

Mr. Daunt's pony won quite comfortably by 1½ lengths. Water Lily beat Encourage by a head for 2nd place.

THIRD RACE. THE JIU JITSU PLATE—Presented by the Bengal Duars Railway Co., Ltd. For ponies 14-1 and under that have never won a race and have not cost their present owners more than Rs. 800, to be ridden by men who have never ridden a winner, Native riding boys barred. Owners riding their own ponies allowed 7 lb. W. I., 4 furlongs.

Mr. A. D. Hickley's b aust g Tobasco, 11-0 ...	1
Major D. Munro's g aust g Moses, 12-0 ...	2
Major D. Munro's b aust g Toby, 12-0 ...	3
Mr. R. C. Davies's b'aust m Dairy Maid, 12-0 ...	0
„ F. N. Ruff's gr e b m Grey Lady, 11-0 ...	0
„ H. Child's gr aust g Comrade, 12-7 ...	0

Mr. Hickley nearly lost the others in the first 2 furlongs, and then cantered in a winner by 6 or 8 lengths with Major Munro's pair 2nd and 3rd, furiously ridden; Moses with his owner up beating Toby by 1½ lengths.

FOURTH RACE. THE REGIMENTAL CUP—Presented by His Excellency the Governor of Bengal, Honorary Colonel, Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles. For ponies 14-2 and under, the bona fide chargers of members of the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles who were Efficient Volunteers for the season 1913-14, and that have been ridden on parade before and during this Camp. To be ridden by active members of the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles.

Acceptances of entries in this race to be subject to the approval of the Officer Commanding the Regiment and the Stewards. W. I., 1 mile.

Trooper C. H. Smith's b aust g Little Ned, 11-10	...	1
Captain G. A. Webb's b aust m Reta, 12-2	...	2
Corporal C. A. Stanton's ch aust g Bobs, 12-0	...	3
Sergeant W. P. Thomas's br aust g Merry and Bright, 12-2	...	0
Major W. L. Goss's ch aust g Encourage, 12-8	...	0

Little Ned, with his sporting owner up, had no difficulty in annexing this coveted prize, presented as it was this year by our Honorary Colonel. Rita was ridden right out, but could make no impression on the leader, she had Bobs beaten however a long way from home. Merry and Bright's first appearance on the race course was not reassuring, but he is so well put together that he must be able to gallop when taught.

FIFTH RACE. THE TUM TUM STAKES—For a Cup presented by the Hon'ble Mr. A. W. C. Chaplin for recognized bona fide Tum Tum ponies 15 hands and under that are being regularly driven in harness this season. W. I., 4 furlongs.

Mr. L. C. Daunt's b e m Elizabeth, 9-7	...	1
" E. O. Shebbeare's wh aust g Tom Boy, 9-13	...	2
" W. F. Jackson's b aust m Salome, 9-13	...	3
" P. D. Raikat's g a g Darnock, 9-7	...	0
" G. McKechnie's br aust g Blackie, 10-11	...	0

Mr. Daunt's Elizabeth was probably the only pony in this race that had even had a canter for months, and she won very easily indeed. The race was run in heavy rain.

SIXTH RACE. THE CARRITT CUP—Presented by Messrs. Carritt, Moran & Co. Open to all bona fide "made" polo ponies in Duars, the Terai, Darjeeling, and Purnea districts. W. I., 3 furlongs.

Mr. A. D. Hickley's br aust g Midnight, 7-12	...	1
Mr. W. C. Ball's br aust m Peggy, 11-0	...	2
Mr. P. D. Raikat's b aust g Gangreen, 7-11	...	3

Mr. Hickley's little pony jumped away extraordinarily quick and led from start to finish, Mr. Ball having a very pleasant ride and won almost without hurrying.

One cannot help noticing that, in this, a planting district, possessing as it does a dozen polo grounds, there was not a single entry from a tea planter in this—the Polo Scurry.

SEVENTH RACE. THE PARKES PLATE—Presented by Messrs. A. F. Parkes & Co. For ponies 14-1 and under, the bona fide property of assistants on tea gardens, or ponies the property of the garden and regularly ridden by the assistants of that garden.

Mr. R. C. Davies' b aust m Dairy Maid, 11-0	...	1
Mr. D. Donaldson's dun c b g Skip-Jack, 10-2	...	2
Mr. A. J. Ilbury's b aust g Fire-Fly, 11-0	...	3

Only three entries for this—a race framed for tea garden assistants. The class of the three running need have frightened no one.

Skip-Jack with his owner up should have won this race, and would have done so but that a ticca gharry stopped in the middle of the course while the driver adjusted his waterproof and umbrella between two lines of Police who were there to keep the course clear: Dairy Maid was better in hand and nipped past the gharry on the rails, but Skip-Jack seemed unable to get going again in time to make up what he had lost. The gharry undoubtedly lost Skip-Jack the race.

SECOND DAY—THURSDAY, 19TH FEBRUARY 1914.

FIRST RACE. THE LEESH CUP—Presented by H. Child, Esq. A handicap for ponies 14-1 and under that have run on the first day. 6 furlongs.

Prince Victor Narayan of Cooch Behar's b aust m Tod, 10-0	...	1
Mr. L. C. Daunt's b e m Royal Gift, 11-12	...	2
Mr. P. D. Raikat's g a g Darnock, 6-4	...	3
Mr. A. J. Ilbury's b a g Fire-Fly, 8-4	...	0

Tod and Royal Gift, then a gap of 20 lengths or so, and Darnock and Fire-Fly. Tod beat Royal Gift quite easily.

SECOND RACE. THE COOCH BEHAR CUP—Presented by His Highness the Maharaja of Cooch Behar. A handicap for all ponies 14-2 and under that have run on the first day. 1 mile.

Major W. L. Goss's ch aust g Encourage, 11-10	...	1
Captain G. Webb's b aust m Rita, 10-5	...	2
Mr. B. N. Chowdhury's b aust m Water Lily, 12-0	...	3
Mr. C. H. Smith's b aust g Little Ned, 11-2	...	0
Mr. C. A. Stanton's ch aust g Bobs, 10-5	...	0

The extra 2 furlongs seemed to suit Encourage, and he won ridden out by two lengths from Rita, who beat Water Lily by a length for 2nd place. This was quite a good race, and any of them might have won.

THIRD RACE. THE CATCH-AS-CATCH-CAN STAKES—Presented by Prince Victor Narayan of Cooch Behar. A handicap for ponies that have run in either the Tum Tum Stakes or the Jiu Jitsu Race on the first day. 6 furlongs.

Mr. A. D. Hickley's b aust g Tobasco, 11-4	...	1
Major D. Munro's dun aust g Moses, 10-0	...	2
Mr. L. C. Daunt's b e m Elizabeth, 11-7	...	3
Mr. E. O. Shebbeare's g aust g Tom Boy, 10-0	...	0
Major D. Munro's b aust g Toby, 9-9	...	0

Mr. Hickley, as on the first day, rode his "finish" at the start, and when he arrived in the straight had run clean away from the others; cantering in the last furlong and walking past the winning post, he turned his pony and saw the arrival of No. 2, Major Munro's Moses, with Captain Weatherhead up, beating Mr. Daunt's Elizabeth by $\frac{1}{2}$ length for this place. Mr. Hickley's new purchase—Tobasco—is a good deal faster than he or any one else thought, and might well have been running against some of the other ponies.

FOURTH RACE. THE LADIES' NOMINATION—Bracelet presented by D. H. Lees, Esq., I.C.S., to the lady nominating the winner, and Cup to owner presented by Messrs. Cox's Shipping Agency, Calcutta. A handicap for ponies that have run on the first day to be nominated by ladies present at the Camp. 5 furlongs.

Mr. L. C. Daunt's b e m Dosh, 10-2	...	1
Prince Victor Narayan of Cooch Behar's ch aust m Coin II 10-4	...	2
Mr. L. C. Daunt's b e m Royal Gift, 11-12	...	3
Mr. C. A. Stanton's ch aust g Bobs, 10-5	...	0

A very good race, Dosh beating Coin II by a length, with Royal Gift a good 3rd. Mrs. Chaplin was the lucky winner of the Bracelet presented by Mr. Lees.

FIFTH RACE. THE PLANTERS CUP—Presented by Messrs. W. S. Cresswell & Co. A handicap for ponies 14-1 and under that have run on the first day. 4 furlongs.

Captain G. A. Webb's b aust m Rita, 10-5	...	1
Mr. C. A. Stanton's ch aust g Bobs, 10-5	...	2
Mr. W. P. Thomas's b aust g Merry and Bright, 8-0	...	3
Mr. P. D. Raikat's b aust g Gangreen, 7-11	...	0
Mr. D. Donaldson's dun c b g Skip-Jack, 7-7	...	0

Rita romped away as was to be expected, and won how she liked. Bobs persevering beat Merry and Bright for 2nd place, who had suddenly put his ears back and stopped galloping 100 yards from home.

We wish to thank the undermentioned donors of cups for their generosity in so kindly helping us:—

H. E. the Governor of Bengal.
Lieutenant-Colonel G. F. Stoddart.
The Hon'ble Mr. A. W. C. Chaplin.
C. A. Radice, Esq., I.C.S.
D. H. Lees, Esq., I.C.S.
His Highness the Maharaja of Cooch Behar.
His Highness the Raja Bahadur of Kakina.
Prince Victor Narayan of Cooch Behar.
F. Harrington Tucker, Esq.
H. Child, Esq.

While we were still treated with the continued generosity which we have learned to associate with Calcutta firms who annually give us cups or subscriptions, and for which our grateful thanks are due to—

Messrs. Thomas & Co.
 Messrs. Cresswell & Co.
 Cox's Shipping Agency Co., Ltd.
 Messrs. Davidson & Co.
 Messrs. James Finlay & Co.
 Messrs. Carritt, Moran & Co.
 Parkes (Davenport & Co.).
 The Bengal Duars Railway Co., Ltd.

A very valuable and handsome lot of cups were obtained from England by the Honorary Secretary, and their excellence was freely commented on. His forethought in this is in keeping with the excellence of the arrangements at the races, and he and the Stewards are to be congratulated that the races went off so well in spite of the last four races on the first day being run off in the rain.

REGIMENTAL POINT-TO-POINT.

Owing to the heavy rain of Tuesday and Wednesday it was found impossible to adhere completely to the original course of about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles which had been carefully laid out by the energetic Race Secretary, ably assisted by, if not actually under the instructions of, Mrs. Whish. The course, however, was practically the same—a shade longer, and seventeen jumps had to be negotiated—a better course could not have been wished for. Those who had the good fortune to enter for this event, if their memory holds good, will be able to look back on a really pleasurable 15 minutes, and to have pity on the number of those in Camp who missed this sporting event.

There was some delay in weighing out, but at about a quarter to eight the competitors were all lined up at the start in front of the Police Lines.

I am able to remember the following who lined up:—Mrs. Collin on "Kildare"; Mrs. Kilby on "Christabel"; Miss Robson-Scott on "Rita"; Mrs. Whish on "Arabi" (not competing as the course was known to her); Captain Liddell on "Hats Off"; Captain Little on "Neptune"; Captain Weatherhead on "Silver Tail"; Lieutenant Macbean on "The Limit"; Trooper Balls on "Tobasco"; Trooper Gent on "Tom Boy"; Corporal Hill on "Elizabeth"; Trooper Munro on "Moses"; Captain Mackie on a very nice looking black; Trooper Kilby of the Bihar Light Horse on a bay; and a few others whose names are forgotten and of whom no record was taken at the time.

Mr. Daunt dropped the flag, and they charged the first jump in a line—a mud wall right across the race course 200 yards ahead. "Tobasco" swerved and refused and nearly took "Kildare" and "Hats Off" with him, the latter having to pull up was last over the jump. The second jump—a hurdle—also across the race course, stopped no one, and was left behind as good as new. An S curve, and the field streamed along the Mandal Ghat Road to just beyond the Mahout's Busti, where a sharp right-handed turn took us to the railway. The first jump after leaving the road unseated Mr. Hill: "Elizabeth", a winner of jumping competitions at Dublin Show, did not jump at all, and the inevitable happened,—if the jump, as was the case, was a 3-feet-9-inches-high and a 2-foot-thick-on-top-unyielding mud wall. To describe all the incidents of the race would take too long. Suffice it to say that Mrs. Collin on "Kildare" led at first, and that Captain Liddell on "Hats Off" led from the point where the railway line was recrossed, to the finish. Trooper Balls on "Tobasco" was running second throughout until about three jumps from home; here "Tobasco" jumped too late, pecked badly, and gave his rider an excellent view of the sky from the broad of his back—a pity, as he was much fancied for the Light Weight Cup. Captain Liddell, riding with great judgment from start to finish, came in first about 6 lengths in front of Captain Little on "Neptune", these two winning respectively the Heavy and the Light Weight Cups.

A very good race was ridden by Miss Robson-Scott on "Rita" (riding astride). The way Miss Robson-Scott fairly rammed her pony over two mud walls the mare had refused was good to see: her win was most deservedly popular, and we all remembered the sporting way in which she took her beating, being caught napping, last year when beaten a head on the post. Mrs. Kilby and "Christabel" had a disagreement at the nala, on the west of the railway line: it was a bit slippery here and the turn rather sharp, and one was sorry to see Mrs. Kilby finishing later on foot.

Let us hope for as good a "chase" next year.

"C" SQUADRON, CAMP JALPAIGURI,
WINNERS OF THE MOST ASSAULT-AT-ARMS EVENTS.

ASSAULT-AT-ARMS.

All the events at the Annual Assault-at Arms were well contested, and there were a great many competitors for the Jumping and Lime-cutting competitions. The jumping by the majority could not be considered of a very high standard; but the winner, Squadron Sergeant-Major Partridge's "Bonnie" ridden by Sergeant Instructor Green, is a beautiful performer. Most of the others required more schooling for show jumping.

The wrestling on horseback was most amusing; a really good event. All the arrangements were excellent; and great credit is due to Lieutenant Travers, the Committee, and the Honorary Secretary for this and the large increase in entries and keenness shown in all competitions.

SPORT.

Polo was not quite up to the standard of the previous year, but one or two exciting games were witnessed in the Inter-Squadron Competition. "B" Squadron is undoubtedly handicapped, for they have no polo ground at Kurseong and only a very small one at Hopetown, large enough for 2 a side. A new ground has, however, been made in the Terai at Bengdubhi, and we hope for a few more regular players there next year. The Mirik ground has been made almost full size, and this should prove a great boon to all those sportsmen round Nagri and the Rungbong Valley.

In the final between "C" and "K" the issue was in doubt till the last minute, and a more keenly contested game could not be wished for; at the end of the match the whole 8 players were ready to fall out of their saddles. "K" Squadron just won by 1 goal. Major Wood was not seen quite at his best; but Lieutenant Luard at back played a sterling game, and almost won the match for "C" Squadron. Trooper Allan also had hard luck in not equalizing a few seconds before time. The teams were—

It was a great pity that the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles Team for the Puja Tournament at Lebong fell through at the last minute, for they were much fancied for the Cup.

The final of the "Chaplin Cup" was played between the English and Scotch teams, the former winning by 6 goals to nil, the English having defeated the Irish team out in the district. Corporal Waller, who is home on leave, was undoubtedly missed by "K" Squadron. The Hon'ble Mr. A. W. C. Chaplin did not play this year, but kindly lent his well known championship pony "Straight Shot" to

AMUSEMENTS.

The Concerts and Dances held during Camp week reflected creditably on the ability of the Committees, and proved a pleasant diversion from the more arduous side of Camp life, especially this year, when the climatic conditions were most trying.

On Monday the 16th February a Scratch Dance was held in the Ball Room of the Jalpaiguri Club, and proved very successful. The music provided by the Darjeeling Gymkhana Band was excellent, and the Ball Room was tastefully decorated.

Dancing was kept up until the early hours of the morning, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

On Tuesday and Thursday Concerts were held. Most of the items were contributed by members of the Corps, which possesses a wealth of musical talent. All the items were excellently rendered, and everything was so good that it would be invidious to make distinction. The comic songs provoked roars of laughter, and the large audiences appeared to thoroughly enjoy themselves, and found the end come all too soon.

The Balls held on Wednesday and Friday were indeed brilliant functions. In the number of guests, the beauty of the setting, and the splendour of the costumes they were unequalled. On Friday the 18th was the Inspection Ball, and indefatigable efforts had been made to make it worthy of the occasion. Not only was the function exceptionally brilliant, but it was essentially enjoyable. The Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles are as strenuous in play as in work, and were going strong at the finish; and the ladies were not a whit less energetic. The programme of music furnished by the Band was splendid, and from the first dance to the last there appeared to be no decrease either in the number of the dancers or their fervour.

A FEW NOTES ON THE HISTORY OF THE CORPS.

During that memorable march in 1857, Sir Henry Havelock, on his way to relieve Lucknow, raised 30 Volunteers—"his only Cavalry"—in North Bengal. The Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles can claim a distinct, if broken, connection with that band of heroes. They were indeed a glorious band; and Holmes in writing of "Havelock's Cavalry" says that their actions were worthy of "Danton's motto"—"To dare, and to dare, and to dare again".

In the early sixties a few of those members of the Calcutta Yeomanry who served in the Mutiny found their way to Darjeeling, and in 1873 the first Corps, with head quarters at Darjeeling, was formed by the efforts of Mr. G. W. Christison, and designated the Darjeeling Volunteer Rifles. This gentleman, who prior to this date was a keen Volunteer in Scotland, journeyed on foot around practically all the tea gardens in the Darjeeling district endeavouring to recruit Volunteers for the Corps.

Among the early members were several who had served in the Mutiny, the Afghan War, Persian War, Bhutan War, Egypt and Sikkim, and also a few Crimean veterans.

Unfortunately there are few records left of the early doings, and we have to rely for data on personal reminiscences of old members. The first Captain—Captain McDonald—journeyed from Gangtok to Darjeeling to attend the first parade that was held. After the parade this gentleman had occasion to visit the dentist: here he was put under chloroform for the purpose of having teeth extracted, and unfortunately died under the anaesthetic.

The Corps continued to flourish and increase in numbers from 1873 onwards, and considering that it was yet in its infancy the standard of efficiency was excellent. The Corps was indifferently armed at this period, and few members were in possession of uniform; but nevertheless there was great keenness and esprit-de-corps, which augured well for its future.

The first Annual Report was rendered for the season 1881-82 by Lieutenant-Colonel H. H. Stansfield. The Corps at that time was designated the Northern Bengal Volunteer Rifles, and was composed of "A" and "B" Companies with head quarters at Darjeeling and Kurseong, and a Railway Company, known as the Northern Bengal State Railway Volunteer Company, with head quarters at Saidpur.

At this time the strength was only 223 Volunteers and 23 Cadets of St. Paul's School, Darjeeling. The Head Quarters Office was a small tenement of a building in the Darjeeling Bazaar.

During these years a Camp of Exercise was held annually at Siliguri, at which about 50 or 60 Volunteers attended, and from the records it appears the ability of the men was remarkable.

1883-84 shows a considerable increase in strength, largely due to the formation of an additional Company—"C"—at Bagracote in the Duars. At this time a Cadet Company was formed at Dow Hill School, Kurseong. In connection with the raising of "C" Company great praise was given by the Commandant, Colonel Stansfield, to Sergeant Instructor Brown for his untiring efforts and zeal. Sergeant Brown used to do his daks in a bullock cart, travelling from Siliguri to the Duars to issue rifles and equipment and attend the drills. This old soldier is still hale and hearty, and many are the stories he relates of the early days. He has settled at Ghoom, where he is the proprietor of a Store and Restaurant built on old English lines. When riding up from the hot valleys of the Terai one passes over Ghoom and meets the boisterous Himalayan winds, it is cheering to see the smiling face of Mr. Brown, and his wholesome refreshments act as an excellent tonic to the travel worn equestrian.

The uniform of the Regiment at this time was of khaki cord, which was obtained from the Master Tailors of the Calcutta Volunteers and Eastern Bengal State Railway Volunteers.

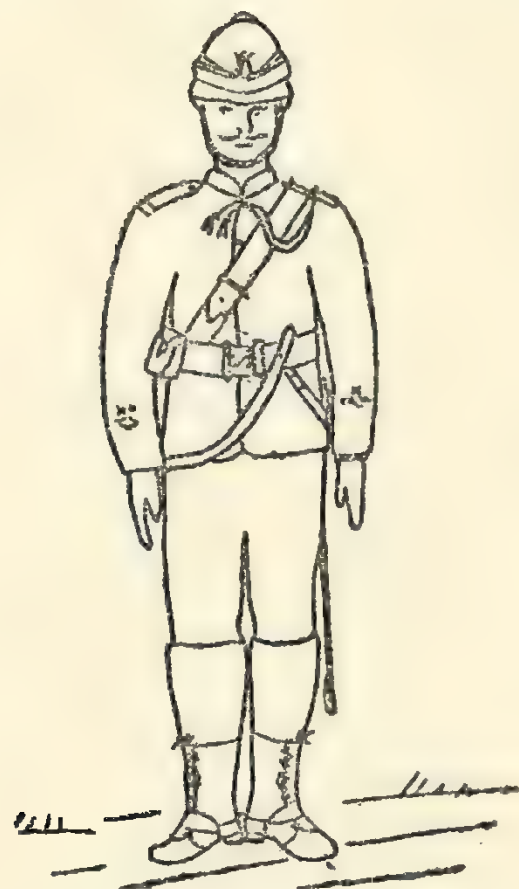

Colonel H. H. Stansfield resigned in 1883 on succeeding to Colonel's allowance, and handed over the command to Lieutenant-Colonel Wellesley-Campbell, Bengal Infantry. It is interesting to note that in those days the Commandants were Officers of the Regular Forces.

In 1884 a Reserve Company was formed. In this year a wish was also expressed by many members to become Mounted Rifles; and the necessary Government sanction having been obtained, Mounted Sections were formed in "A", "B", and "C" Companies, comprising two-thirds of the strength.

The first Regimental Camp of Exercise at Jalpaiguri was held in 1886, but though it was an unqualified success socially, it does not appear to have been very advantageous from a military point of view. The average daily attendance was only 30 members. The catering arrangements were made by the Great Eastern Hotel, Calcutta, and appears to have been an expensive item. His Highness the Maharaja of Cooch Behar held a large social camp, and many ladies attended.

The maintenance of a Regimental Band was sanctioned by the Government from the 1st April 1886. It consisted of 1 Band Master and 14 men. The instruments were purchased from the Burdwan Raj, and were of a very good quality. The Band was quartered at Kurseong, Dam Dim, and Saidpur during the cold weather, and was a decided success: their martial airs assisted recruiting greatly. The whole of the Corps was fitted out with khaki uniform during this year, which was made up regimentally.

This worthy Volunteer, in the old uniform of the Corps, has not, as it would appear, grown out of his tunic, but is only the victim of unfaithful portraiture by the Corps Artist of 1886.

Mr. William Lloyd, one of the founders of the Corps, was appointed Commandant on the 16th July 1886. This was a most popular appointment, as Colonel Lloyd (who was the first Volunteer Commandant) did a great deal to equip the Corps and spared no efforts to make volunteering a success. He equipped the Mounted Sections at his own expense; and in 1889, after his retirement, presented the Corps with a Maxim Gun, which at the time was the only weapon of its kind in India. At the request of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the Maxim was lent to the Meerut Rifle Meeting in 1893, and was also lent to the Pachmarhi School of Musketry. This Maxim is still in our possession, but unfortunately is quite obsolete and of little practical use.

A Camp of Exercise was held at Jalpaiguri in December 1886. The average daily attendance was only 30 members. It was however proposed that in future years Company Camps should be held, as members of many Companies found it impracticable to attend Camp in Jalpaiguri.

On the occasion of the visit of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in India to Darjeeling on the 3rd March 1888, "A" Company paraded 46 strong at the Railway Station to receive His Excellency and afterwards furnished a Mounted Escort from the Railway Station to Government House. His Excellency expressed himself very well pleased with the smart appearance of the men, and very kindly presented a silver medal (The Dufferin Medal) to be shot for by the Corps.

In September 1887 the Government of India decided that Efficient Volunteers proceeding on Field Service with departments of the State or on any public duty with an army in the field should receive war medals under the same conditions as soldiers of the regular army.

Ambulance Classes were instituted at this time, and the Commander-in-Chief commended the officers and men who underwent this useful course of instruction.

Lieutenant-Colonel W. Lloyd resigned in 1888, and handed over the command to Captain R. J. Harrison, who in announcing the resignation of Colonel Lloyd said that he felt sure every member of the Corps would regret as much as he did the loss to the Corps by the resignation of its popular Commandant. "Colonel Lloyd was one of the founders of the Corps in 1873, and its present highly satisfactory condition is mainly due to the unwearied interest he has taken in it, and his liberal support in financial matters." (Sic.)

A second Cadet Company, composed of the boys of St. Joseph's College, Darjeeling (40 strong), was formed in 1888; and in 1889 the Purneah Volunteer Rifles (39 strong) became amalgamated. The Northern Bengal State Railway Volunteer Company was then transferred to the Eastern Bengal State Railway Volunteer Rifles. During this year we were given our present title—the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles.

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief visited Darjeeling on the 5th February 1889, and "A" Company again furnished a Mounted Escort from the Railway Station to Woodlands Hotel.

His Excellency expressed himself very well pleased with the smart appearance of the escort.

About this time Captain A. E. Couper, the Adjutant, presented the "Couper" Polo Cup, now so keenly contested for.

A Regimental Camp was held in January at Subtighuri, lasting four days. Much useful work was done, and the Corps having so recently been transformed into Mounted Rifles, specialized at this Camp in Long Distance Rides.

In 1890 Siliguri again saw our Annual Camp of Exercise. This Camp did not however prove very successful; and the Commandant at the time, in common with his predecessors, was disappointed by the small training value of Regimental Camps as compared with Troop Camps. Progress was now at rather a low ebb, and owing to the scattered districts much difficulty was found in several Troops in collecting men together for drills.

"A" and "B" Troops however continued to flourish, and earned for themselves the nickname of the "Bhutia Horse", owing to so many members attending parades mounted on this class of pony. Their average attendance at parades and drills was 40 members, and at the celebration of Her Majesty the Queen's Birthday at Jalapahar nearly all the members of these Troops attended. It might be worthy of mention that Races used to be held around the Darjeeling Mall: quite the reverse to modern days, when one is forbidden to proceed along this road at a faster pace than the trot.

Major Harrison, who had been a Volunteer Officer for over six years, and commanded the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles for two years, retired on the 16th January 1891, and was succeeded by Captain A. C. Band.

There was an exceptionally large number of Prize Shoots held by the several Companies at this time, which no doubt accounted for the many crack shots. In fact from the date of the Corps formation the number of Prize Shoots and Musketry Matches held was remarkable.

In 1890 the practice of holding Regimental Camps of Exercise was discontinued, and Company Camps were introduced. In 1893, however, at the suggestion of Brigadier-General Lance, C.B., a Regimental Camp was held at Jalpaiguri, and including a few members of the Eastern Bengal State Railway Volunteers, there was a total attendance of 121 members. Most of the Officers attended this camp, and nearly all the Non-Commissioned Officers; and the Camp was a decided success.

The Band, under the energetic management of Surgeon-Captain Faulkner, was still going strong, and did much useful work. His Highness the Maharajah of Cooch Behar presented the Band with a complete set of new instruments.

The year 1896 was characterized by the improved state of the finances, which from the date of formation had given much cause for solicitude. Uniform saddlery was introduced in this year. Owing to the financial co-operation of two Darjeeling Clubs being withdrawn, the Band had to be abolished. This was most unfortunate, withdrawing as it did a great inducement to recruiting.

An additional Troop—"G"—was added to the Corps in 1896.

Troop Camps were again introduced in 1898, it having always proved impossible to get a large proportion of men together in a single Camp.

The first Camp of "G" Troop was held at Baksa in 1899. This was a most successful Camp, and the Troop acquitted itself splendidly, especially in frontier fighting.

"A" Troop held a very successful Camp at Lebong under the command of Captain Grant Gordon (afterwards Commandant). The men were quartered in the Barrack Rooms, and the Sergeants' Mess was lent for messing purposes.

In 1899 the following members of the Corps joined Lumsden's Horse and proceeded to fight their country's battles in South Africa :—

"A" TROOP.

Sergeant G. A. Gowenlock.
Trooper A. D. Radford.
Lance-Corporal H. C. C. Bennett.
Trooper L. P. Davies.

"C" TROOP.

Sergeant-Major H. J. Renny.
Lance-Corporal H. W. Thelwall.
Trooper W. R. W. Birch.

"D" TROOP.

Trooper C. C. Preston.

"G" TROOP.

Trooper L. J. Oakley.

On the return of these gallant men from South Africa, the Commanding Officer was pleased to promote Trooper Oakley to Troop Sergeant-Major in recognition of services in the field; and Trooper Preston earned that coveted distinction—the medal for distinguished conduct. Corporal Hall, who joined Bethune's Mounted Infantry, was promoted Sergeant in the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles for his work in South Africa.

The following is an interesting extract from Regimental Orders of 1900 :—

"It has come to the notice of the Lieutenant-General Commanding during his tour of inspection, that contrary to the custom of the Service, many of the Mounted Officers' chargers and troop horses have been hogged.

"Sir Geo. Luck directs that this practice be stopped, and that Commanding Officers will in future decline to pass any horse as an Officer's charger that has a hogged mane."

Our present "K" Squadron was formed in 1900, and in this year "A" Troop again held a Camp of Exercise at Lebong. Much useful work was done, and practical manoeuvres were carried out with the Royal Munster Fusiliers. A lively interest was taken in football at the time, and "A" had a very able team, winning many matches against the Regular Troops.

"B" Troop held their Camp this year at Subtiguri, and a right good camp it was. The Camp was situated in the Club ground, lent by kind permission of the members. Many competitions were held, but that competed for with the most spirit was one for the best dressed Volunteer. The winner had to be picked out by a girl; and the way the men cleaned up their accoutrements, uniforms, &c., was good to see. Trooper Girling won. A regular form of military sport at this Camp was the gallop to Fillodhi in sections, opening fire, and galloping back—a distance of some miles.

The Club was known as the Terai Hockey Club, so evidently there were many energetic followers of the game.

"C" and "G" Troops joined hands this year by holding a double Company Camp at Mal, Bengal Duars. Placing of outposts and skirmishing took up most of the time, the men having been found fairly proficient beforehand in the usual drill details. Brigadier-General Leach, C.B., D.S.O., attended this Camp, and remarked that the work had been very creditably performed; the men were well turned out, and the horses were a very useful lot: in fact the whole turn out was far better than what he had been led to expect. Excellent catering arrangements were made, thanks to Lieutenant and Quarter-Master W. Helps.

"F" Company at St. Joseph's College were indeed a smart lot of youngsters; and Major-General Wodehouse, C.B., C.M.G., on reviewing them found it difficult to express his satisfaction. He said they were as good—in fact better—than any Calcutta Company; and it was a pleasure for him to meet such a respectable lot of English boys; and that it was always a pleasure for him to go to that school, which was well worth the journey from Calcutta, if only to inspect such a very creditable Company.

During this year the Government was pleased to accord sanction to the grant of Rs. 100 to Volunteer Officers as an outfit allowance on first appointment.

1901 again saw a Regimental Camp at Jalpaiguri. The Camp, considering it was the first since 1896, was well attended, and the work done was useful and practical. The attendance would have been larger had "D" Troop been able to attend, but they were prevented by unavoidable causes from doing so. The presence of the Eastern Bengal State Railway Volunteers added considerably to the usefulness of the work. "A" Troop's Camp was also again held at Lebong in February of this year; but as some members of the Troop had already attended the Camp at Jalpaiguri, the attendance was not so large as on previous occasions. Field manoeuvres were practised; and Colonel Becher, who had just returned from South Africa, expressed himself very well pleased with the way the manoeuvres had been executed, and said that any General in South Africa would have been glad to have had such men serving under him.

Another successful Regimental Camp was held at Jalpaiguri in February 1902. A difference in drill was made this year by introducing battalion drill and keeping Troops separate as far as possible under their own Officers. The component parts of the Battalion were consequently small, but the advantage was gained of giving Officers more share in the drills, and of teaching Troops to work together.

General Sir J. Wolfe Murray inspected the Cadet Companies at their different stations, and considered them a very creditable lot of boys.

The first Regimental Mess was started at the Annual Regimental Camp, Jalpaiguri, in 1903, under the supervision of Honorary Captain F. A. Wearing, and was a decided success. The necessary articles of glass, crockery, utensils, lamps, &c., were purchased out of a loan received from Government, and were stamped with the Regimental Crest designed by Captain Wearing.

In this year an Indian Mounted Volunteer Contingent was sent to England for the Coronation of His Majesty King Edward

VII, and the following report by Major G. Grant Gordon will be of interest:—

"As requested, I have the honour to submit the following short report of the work of the Indian Volunteer Contingent sent to England to take part in the Coronation ceremonies of His Majesty the King-Emperor. I had the honour to be selected to command the Cavalry under Colonel Hodding, V.D., C.I.E., who commanded the entire Contingent—Cavalry and Infantry. Squadron Sergeant-Major Cotton, 'G' Squadron, and Sergeant Stuart Menteth, 'A' Squadron, were the members chosen from the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles.

"Sergeant Stuart Menteth went with the Contingent from Bombay in the R. I. M. S. Hardinge. Sergeant-Major Cotton and myself, being in England on leave, joined them at Southampton on arrival, from whence they were brought to London. The Mounted Contingent were permitted to make their own arrangements as regarded quarters and messing; the Infantry were quartered at Chelsea Barracks, where the Orderly Room and Head Quarters were during the stay of the Contingent in England. The entire Contingent paraded at Chelsea daily for foot parades, except when exempted by leave. In June the Mounted portion went into Camp with the Indian Regulars at Fulham Park, and received their horses there.

"These were Yeomanry remounts, quite raw and half-broken, and great credit is due to the men for the manner in which they steadied them in the short time at their disposal. Whilst at Fulham we received the news of His Majesty the King's serious illness and the postponement of the Coronation. We remained in Camp for a few days and then the Camp broke up and the men were disbanded to their houses, only to be recalled at once to parade for a Review before Her Majesty the Queen and the Prince of Wales at the Horse Guards Parade Ground. After that the next ceremonial parade was for the reception of His Excellency Lord Kitchener on his return from South Africa. The Mounted Contingent were placed at the Magazine in Hyde Park. From then till the date of the Coronation the men were permitted to proceed to their houses on leave for a short time, with parades at Chelsea. On the day of the Coronation, owing to the Procession being very much reduced in numbers, the Contingent did not take their previously allotted place in the Procession, but mounted guard in front of Buckingham Palace.

"Before leaving England the members received the Coronation Medals from His Majesty the King at Buckingham Palace. I regret I was not present myself, as I was at the time seriously ill with an illness contracted on the day of the Coronation: it was the only parade I was absent from during the nine months the Contingent was in England.

I have much pleasure in bearing testimony to the very thorough manner in which the men of the Mounted Contingent performed their duties, and also in bringing to the notice of Colonel Marindin the good work of Squadron Sergeant-Major Cotton and Sergeant Stuart Menteth, who in every way did great credit to the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles."

The Regiment also sent a Detachment to the Delhi Darbar in December of this year. This Detachment, together with Detachments from the Surma Valley Light Horse, Dehra Dun Mounted Rifles, and Chota Nagpur Mounted Rifles, formed the third Squadron commanded by Major Lloyd.

The Contingent took no servants, and it was wonderful how quickly and cheerfully the men settled down to Camp life. In a Farewell Order to this Mounted Contingent, Lieutenant-Colonel Grey, Commanding, thanked all ranks for the hearty co-operation and loyal support which alone made possible a very difficult task. The assembling together of a Contingent from a large number of different Mounted Regiments being without precedent in India, was attended by many difficulties, some of which tended to increase the necessary discomforts and hardships of a military encampment; but the men carried out their duties and accepted the discomforts with a cheerfulness and soldierly spirit worthy of all praise.

A Regimental Camp of Exercise was held at Jalpaiguri in February 1904 in conjunction with 800 men of the Royal Fusiliers under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel E. J. Cooper, D.S.O. The presence of a Regiment of Regular Troops at the Camp was due to the forethought of Brigadier-General H. P.

Leach, C.B., D.S.O., who stopped them at Jalpaiguri for the purpose on their way up to Darjeeling, and was of the greatest assistance to the Corps by enabling drills and manœuvres to be carried out on a much larger scale than heretofore, and by the good example set of soldierly drill and discipline.

A Ladies and Guest Camp was also held this year in conjunction with the main Camp.

Our present Mess House was now completed from plans prepared by under the supervision of Major Wedderspoon, who arranged the supply of materials. The cost was Rs. 7,000.

The present Infantry Company—"M" or Maxim Gun Company—was formed in 1904: a valuable asset to the Corps. Egyptian Helmets were introduced at this time.

In 1905 still another Cadet Company joined our ranks,—"I",—at Kalimpong.

From 1905 to 1907 we increased in numbers, held Regimental Camps annually, and the liveliest interest in volunteering was taken throughout the Corps: for this brief history however nothing of great importance happened to record.

A feature of the Regimental Camp at Jalpaiguri in 1907 was the presence of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Eastern Bengal and Assam (Sir Lancelot Hare), who arrived with his Staff by a special train, and was met by an escort of 20 Troopers of the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles under Veterinary Lieutenant Metcalfe, who escorted His Honour to the Camp in the compound of the Jalpaiguri Club. Before dismissing the escort Sir Lancelot Hare expressed his thanks and complimented Lieutenant Metcalfe on the smart turn out of his men. We were again brigaded with Regulars, viz. the 1st Battalion, Middlesex Regiment. The Eastern Bengal State Railway Volunteers were also with us, and presented a handsome revolver cup to be shot for by the Corps. Our present pattern Mess Dress was introduced in 1907—a great improvement on the old khaki dress. Helmet Badges to India.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. R. Marindin resigned during this year, and was succeeded by Lieutenant-Colonel G. Grant Gordon.

"O" Company, composed of the pupils of St. Goethals School, Kurseong, was formed this year. Helmet badges were abolished under instructions from the Adjutant-General in India.

At the Camp in February 1908 the Eastern Bengal State Railway Volunteers again joined us for a week, and brought their armoured train, which was a source of great interest. Two Companies of the King's Own (Royal Lancaster) Regiment were also present. The parades consisted mostly of Company Drill in order to give members an opportunity of observing the difference between Cavalry and Infantry Drill and words of command. About this time an Army Order was published eliminating all Cavalry Drill from Mounted Rifles. Mounted Rifles were accordingly to consider themselves Mounted Infantry, and Infantry Organizations were adopted. The Drill Book in vogue at the time was entitled "Mounted Infantry Training."

At the Regimental Camp in 1909 we were honoured with the presence of the Royal West Kent Regiment, who helped to make the Camp a complete success. General du Gray, the Inspecting Officer, praised the tactics employed, and remarked on the high standard of horsemanship, and said that a striking asset of the Corps was its even standard of horseflesh. General du Gray suggested that the ladies, of whom a large number attended, should take a course of lessons in first aid to the wounded.

At the 1911 Camp Sir Lancelot Hare was once more with us. The Regiment was under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Oliver owing to the illness of Lieutenant-Colonel Grant Gordon. Particularly useful work was done at this Camp by the signallers under Lieutenant Ward. We were now in possession of a complete set of heliographs.

In 1912, on the occasion of the public entry into Darjeeling of the first Governor of Bengal (His Excellency the Right Hon'ble Baron Carmichael of Skirling)—our present Colonel—the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles furnished a full escort of 2 Officers and 36 Rank and File. This was a particularly fine escort, the splendid horses being freely commented upon. In October of this year a similar escort under Captain L. Drysdale was furnished (from the Duars Squadrons) for

3. A WELL TRAINED CHARGER. 4. TROOPER, DRILL ORDER, AT "ATTENTION"
5. TYPE OF CORPS CHARGER.

The Regiment is now composed of five Squadrons,—“A”, “B”, “C”, “G”, and “K”; one Infantry Company—“M”; and five Cadet Companies—“E”, “F”, “H”, “I”, and “O”.

Each Squadron has three or four Troops, and each Troop is grouped into four or more permanent sections. The Troops are allocated according to geographical districts, and are each under the command of an Officer or Non-Commissioned Officer, who is directly responsible for the training of his men to the Officer Commanding the Squadron. The Corps is very well mounted, on a suitable type of cob, many members having several ponies from which to select their charger. The Drill Book in use is “Yeomanry and Mounted Rifle Training.”

The uniform is of a good khaki drill, and is perhaps the most serviceable and practical dress we have ever had.

The undress blue patrol jacket uniform for Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers with white facings is particularly smart and very comfortable.

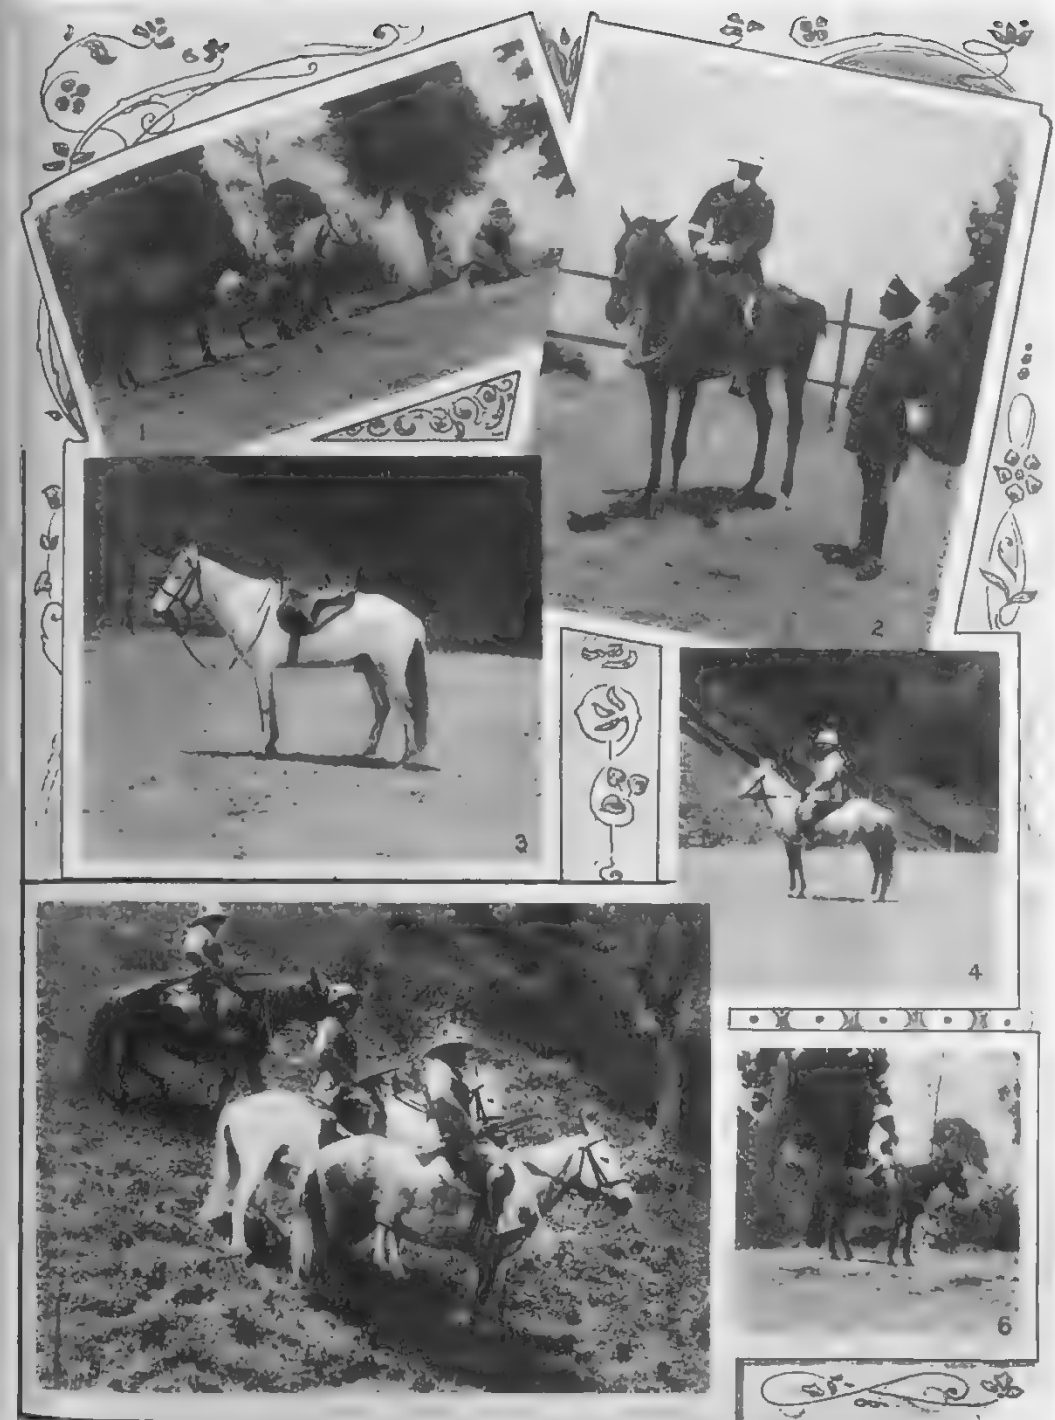

The present day Camps of Exercise are far better attended than in former years, and our Officers and members appreciate their responsibilities and realize more than ever that they form an integral part of the armed forces of the Empire.

We have attained a very high standard of efficiency, and our present strength is over 1,100.

MOUNTED RIFLES.

From the days of Alexander to those of Napoleon the creation of a force of Infantry, possessing the steadiness, the solidity, and the weapons of the highly trained foot-soldier, yet capable of making rapid marches, has been the ambition of every great Commander. No victory can be made complete, no advance secured, no retreat effectively protected, without the co-operation of Infantry. The power and effect of Cavalry acting alone has in all ages been found to be evanescent without the co-operation of Infantry to enable them to reap the reward of victory and to save the defeated from total rout. The real difficulty has always been to obtain an Infantry which shall have the requisite power of locomotion, and some of the mobility of Cavalry, without loss to its value as efficient foot-soldiers. In the endeavour to overcome this difficulty the great leaders of the 17th and 18th Centuries created the Dragoon Force, which, distinct from "Horse" and "Foot", was intended to combine the shock tactics of the one with the fire power of the other. This system, followed by Napoleon at the commencement of last century, shared the fate of the previous and of later attempts in the same direction; and the Dragoon Regiment, permanently constituted, became Cavalry pure and simple, merging their value as "Foot" in the more dashing and attractive rôle of "Horse". Experience of recent years in our varied and trying campaigns in all parts of the Empire, has shown that a mobile and rapidly moving Infantry in the field is for us a grave necessity. The efforts of our Infantry, equipped and trained upon the European model, are paralyzed in the face of an active native enemy operating on the interminable sands of Egypt or the Soudan, the rolling grass plains of South Africa, and the sultry forests and swamps of Burma and parts of India. European soldiers on foot alone cannot contend against such an enemy when it is a question of guarding from surprise, of making rapid advances, and of completing a victory. Necessity has therefore compelled each of our Commanders in turn to improvise on the spot as best he could some species of extra mobile Infantry mounted on ponies, horses, camels or other animals : in short, Mounted Riflemen, suited to the climate and country. The importance of a rapidly moving mounted force, equipped and armed as Infantry, had been overlooked, in spite of the experiences of the Napoleonic wars, until the commencement of the War of Secession in America. The Americans, having no repressive military traditions to hamper them, evolved the organization and employment of a mounted force, which, suited to the physical characteristics of the people and country, combined the action of a rapidly moving Infantry with the utmost mobility of Cavalry. It may fairly be said that the early successes of the Southern Armies were due to the excellence of their horsemen ; and, on the other hand, that the collapse of the Confederate Army under General Lee was mainly due to the enterprise, vigour, and power of the Northern Mounted Troops.

Reading aright the lessons of recent wars and expeditions, leading military opinions have long acknowledged the importance of this new departure, and have recognized that while modern Cavalry must be trained to act on foot when required, they do not contemplate that Cavalry should attempt to carry on a long continued fight with fire-arms.

Notwithstanding the many lessons of the past, the necessity for large numbers of Mounted Riflemen was again overlooked, until many bitter experiences during the wars in South Africa once more brought this home. Now all the Oversea Dominions,—Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and South Africa,—utilizing the splendid material available, have formed large forces of Mounted Rifles ; and a Yeomanry and Mounted Rifle Training Manual has been introduced by the Army Council with a view to training these mounted troops on a recognized system, so far as the varying conditions in the different parts of the Empire permit.

SQUADRON AND COMPANY NOTES.

"A" Squadron, the Maxim Gun Company, and the two Cadet Companies at Darjeeling have put in plenty of hard and useful work during the season under review. Riding School parades were held regularly for "A" Squadron; and although more members should have taken advantage of this instruction, those who did so received great benefit.

The Chong Tong Section held parades or musketry weekly throughout the cold weather; and thanks are due to Captain Mackie for his untiring efforts and generosity. There is a very fine range at Chong Tong, and although this section only figures three times in the Regimental Prize Shoot, we hope for better results next year.

The members of "A" Squadron at Kalimpong also did much good work under Corporal Williams, who is a very keen Non-Commissioned Officer and spares no efforts for the good of his section.

The ranks of "A" Squadron have been depleted during the past season by the death of two very popular Volunteers. Corporal G. S. Gee, a dashing Horse-master, died at the General Hospital, Calcutta, in November; and Reservist W. Green, who served in the Mutiny, Persia, Bhutan and Sikkim, died at Darjeeling in March 1914.

The Maxim Gun Company held parades weekly, all of which were well attended, the instruction afforded by Lieutenant Shea and Color-Sergeant Lofts being of a practical and useful nature: special attention was giving to judging distance. During the season this Company gave a dance, and on another occasion they entertained their friends at a Smoking Concert. We hope the Maxim Gun Company will again extend their generosity in the near future. Orderly Room Color-Sergeant Holland is to be congratulated on having won the "Main Cup" for the season, for the highest score in the Annual Course, without repeating. This Company has unfortunately lost two very able Non-Commissioned Officers by the death of Color-Sergeant Instructor in Musketry A. W. Dale and Sergeant W. Bonnaud.

A SECTION ON THE MAXIM GUN COMPANY. N. B. M. RIFLES.

Several lectures were given at Head Quarters on the sand model by Major-General May, Major Radcliffe, Major Hingley, and Lieutenant Griffin. These lectures were instructive and interesting, and a good few officers from Lebong and Jalapahar showed their appreciation by regular attendance.

A few members of both "A" and "M" took part in the Garrison Field Day at Senchal on the 3rd October.

A series of shoots were held at Lebong Range between a team of the King's Own Regiment and a mixed team of "A" and "M" for a cup presented by Captain R. A. Pymm. The cup was won by the King's Own Regiment, but we were fortunate in securing the cup for the best aggregate presented by Trooper Kirby. This cup was won by Orderly Room Color-Sergeant Holland. With the new rifles now in use, we hope to give the King's Own a more difficult task next year.

"E" and "F" Companies were inspected in September by Major-General E. S. May, who was very complimentary in his remarks to each Company at the conclusion.

"E" Company took part in the Garrison Field Day, and acquitted themselves remarkably well. Captain Shawcross and Lieutenant Whittles severed their connection with the school during the year, their places being taken by Captain Woodhead, Lieutenant Winn, and 2nd Lieutenant Pook.

The Band of "F" Company performed in the Victoria Park on one occasion during the rains, the excellent music being appreciated by all. We should like to hear them oftener.

Captain McCoy has been promoted from Lieutenant: a step in rank which he justly merited.

It is extremely regretted that "E" Company has lost a very promising young Cadet by the death of Cadet Hope-Allum.

"I" Company at Kalimpong were fortunate in getting General May to inspect them, as it is many years since this Company has been inspected by a General.

During May, 21 Cadets, under Lieutenants Ross and Ripley, marched from Kalimpong at Darjeeling, remaining for a week, during which time they put in a deal of hard work at Birch Hill. All attended a Church Parade before leaving. The Commandant congratulates this Company on having won the "Baker Challenge Shield", which they wrested from "E" Company, who had held it for two successive years.

On the occasion of the visit of His Excellency the Governor of Bengal to Kalimpong, "I" Company formed a Guard of Honour and Escort, and also attended a Church Parade at which Their Excellencies were present. The Rev. Dr. Graham, Honorary Chaplain of the Corps, preached a very impressive and appropriate sermon.

Captain Ross gave over the command of the Company towards the end of the season to Lieutenant Ripley, who is now quickly bringing it up to a high standard of efficiency. Their band of bagpipes and drums has some really good performers.

"B" Squadron, under Captain Webb, had a very hard season. Parades were held at Kurseong, Hopetown, Mirik, and the Terai. These parades were particularly well attended. Two very instructive Field Days were held at Mirik, each parade being followed by a gymkhana and polo. Mirik and Terai have now full-sized polo grounds, and we hope to see "B" Squadron give a good account of themselves in the next Camp matches.

The Prize Shoot of this Squadron was, as usual, a great success, all matches being very keenly contested. On the night of the shoot the Squadron Dance was held, and proved most enjoyable. Trooper Lobban is to be congratulated on having won the cup for the Best-man-at-arms, presented by Major General E. S. May for Mounted Volunteer Corps in the Presidency Brigade; Trooper W. C. Ball of "A" Squadron was second. The competition was held at the Darjeeling Horse Show.

"H" and "O" Companies have both been very energetic in all things, and the Corps is justly proud of them. "O" Company railed up from Kurseong and attended the Garrison Field Day at Setchal in October. "H" Company were prepared to attend, and even marched down to the railway station, but were unable to obtain accommodation owing to the railway authorities providing insufficient carriages.

"F" COMPANY (ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE) WITH BAND.

Both "H" and "O" Companies are well up to the standard of efficiency, and we hope to see them on a Field Day in the vicinity of Senechal ere long.

"C" Squadron for the second year in succession has proved itself the best Squadron. It is now 117 strong, and the majority are extra efficient. About 50 members attended Camp, and again carried off the bulk of the honours for skill at arms and sport. On the 28th of January, at very short notice, the Squadron paraded 75 strong for inspection by the Inspector of Volunteers in India. Unfortunately we were late in commencing practical drill this season, and it was the first Full Squadron Parade.

With every member bent on doing his best, however, the Squadron soon settled down and acquitted itself well. General Lean, the Inspecting Officer, gave some very sound advice, and was well pleased with the workmanlike turn out. Our popular Squadron leader, Captain Drysdale, has gone home for a well earned holiday; and we hope, like Lieutenant Travers, he will bring us back a few wrinkles from Scotland's Horse. We deeply deplore the loss to the Squadron of a smart Volunteer by the death of Trooper A. C. Humfry.

The energetic Troop leaders of "G" Squadron have done wonders towards bringing this Squadron back to its present high standard. A few years ago, the late Trooper Andrew Oliver kept things moving at Nagrakata, and after he left us volunteering in these districts became undoubtedly flat. Fortunately, however, the enthusiasm has again revived, and we look forward to seeing "G" Squadron carrying away more laurels next season. Our Major and several keen men were unfortunately prevented from coming to Camp; still, more were present than during the last few years. The Squadron is now 85 strong; but there are still a good many young fellows capable of bearing arms, in the Nagrakata district particularly, who are defaulters from the cause, and we hope Non-Commissioned Officers will urge them to join us.

A Dinner was held at the Nagrakata Club during March, at which nearly 50 were present, including a few ladies; the redoubtable "Dan" made our Highland blood flow fast with his skerrrr - - - ls and pibrochs.

We congratulate Lieutenant MacAlister on having passed his Proficiency Examination in dashing style: 97 per cent marks, we should think a record! The new Range and Parade Ground at Dalmore has supplied a long felt want in this corner, and Squadron Sergeant-Major Cartwright and Non-Commissioned Officers have been untiring in their efforts to improve marksmanship, and have made their Squadron Prize Shoots an unqualified success.

Drills were held periodically at Dina Toorsa and were well attended. Instruction was imparted in field work, fire discipline, and ceremonial.

"K" has always been difficult to get together. It is the last-formed Squadron; and with the district not completely opened up, and bad intercommunication, members are not able to combine like some of the other Squadrons. Although 84 strong, only about 25 find their way to Camp annually. This Squadron has been deprived of the services of a capable young Non-Commissioned Officer and a keen and able Volunteer by the deeply regretted deaths of Corporal H. F. Potter and Trooper J. Wilson.

A very interesting Field Day was carried out between Hasimara and Kalchini. A double Company of the 114th Mahrattas march through the Dima, and escorting a convoy, were attacked by two troops from these districts under Major Wood. We were able to delay and harass the enemy, but they were too strong and ably handled for us to capture the convoy.

Purneah Troop did not roll up to Camp as strong as last year; but we had a few keen members of the Bihar Light Horse attached, who entered into everything with great zest.

Some interesting field firing was carried out in the river-beds and valleys. This sort of practical shooting at difficult targets under natural conditions is of the greatest importance, and more ammunition might have been profitably expended in this manner.

WALTER HAMILTON, V.C., OF THE GUIDES.

'Had he his hurts before ?'
 'Ay, on the front.'
 'Why, then, God's soldier be he !
 Had I as many sons as I have hairs
 I would not wish them to a fairer death.'

THIS story of a short life, of the brief military career of as brave a young British officer as ever wore the King's uniform, will not fail to appeal to all who hold in regard cool, self-sacrificing bravery and steadfast courage in adversity and peril. Walter Richard Pollock Hamilton was an Irishman, a younger son of Alexander Hamilton, Esq., J.P., of Inistioge, co. Kilkenny. He was my school chum—we were in the Cadet Corps, and in the same house. But there is nothing remarkable to record of his school days. He was a bright, cheery, high-spirited boy, pure-minded, manly, and fond of games, the first to own up and take his share of the responsibility for any scrapes into which we got. On passing out of the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, he was gazetted in 1874 to the 70th Foot, now the 2nd Batt., East Surrey Regiment; but, his ambition being the Indian Army, he was, after the usual probationary period, transferred to what was then known as the Bengal Staff Corps, and appointed to the Queen's Own Corps of Guides, a regiment comprising both Cavalry and Infantry, and one of the finest in the Indian Service. Composed of men born and bred to the fighting trade, it was a corps after his own heart. Free-lances, ready to take hard blows, they were hardy warriors, men who had faced death a hundred times from childhood upwards, and who had instinctively learned to be alert, brave and self-reliant.

Within a few months of his appointment in 1877 as Squadron Officer of the Cavalry portion of the Guides, Hamilton was on service in the Jowaki Afridi campaign, and in the operations against the Ramzai village of Skhahat; but the Afghan War of 1878-79 brought him his chance, and showed the metal of which he was made. A generous and sympathetic account of his services generally is given by Younghusband, in his story of the Guides, upon which this memoir is chiefly based. One of the earliest of his adventures was in the action of Fatchabad, when the Guides Cavalry formed a portion of a small force sent to clear the road from Jellalabad to Kabul, which had been suddenly threatened in flank by a great gathering of Afghan tribesmen—blood-thirsty and fanatical Ghazis. In accordance with our usual tactics in dealing with Asiatics, the Cavalry were ordered to charge, and the Guides, led by their Commanding Officer, Major Wigram Battye, were launched to the attack; but they had proceeded only a few hundred yards when Battye was struck first in the left hip by a bullet, then by another which pierced his chest, and he fell to rise no more—the second of five gallant brothers who were destined to die on the field of honour in the ranks of the Guides. ‘Take ‘em on, Walter, my boy,’ were his leader’s last words to young Hamilton; and right manfully were his orders obeyed. On swept the squadron over the undulating plain, until Hamilton was close enough to the enemy to give the orders ‘Gallop! Charge!’ With the gaiety of a foxhunter he gave a ‘view holloa,’ and, with that wild yell which so often, before and since, has struck chill to the heart of an enemy, the Guides dashed forward until some impassable ground was reached. But it takes a good deal to stop a brave young Irishman with such men behind him. A second or two brought them to the obstacle, and, sure enough, as Young-husband describes it, it was no cold-blooded chance—a sheer nine feet drop into the dry bed of a stream, and, opposite, another sheer cliff, and on top of that an exulting and frenzied enemy!

Without a moment’s hesitation young Hamilton leaped into the gulf, and after him, scrambling, sliding, jumping, anyhow and nohow, like a pack of hounds, streamed his fierce following. Like hounds, too, hot on the trail, they tarried not a moment there, but, scattering up and down the nullah singly, or in clumps of two and three, found egress somehow. And then came death, and the Prophet’s Paradise, to many a brave soul. From here and there, from front and right and left, by ones and twos, by threes and fours, charged home the gallant horsemen; and at their head, alone with his trumpeter, rode my school chum Hamilton. At this period, seeing one of his troopers, Sowar Dowlat Ram, down, entangled with his horse, which had been killed, and attacked by three of the enemy, Hamilton, without a moment’s hesitation, rushed to the rescue, followed by a few of his men. He tackled the three Afghans one after the other, cut down all three, and so saved the life of the sowar.

The enemy, brave as they were individually, were unable to stand the onslaught of determined Cavalry charging home. And so the great crowd broke, and for four long miles the pursuit continued, till man and horse were worn and tired, arms were too stiff to strike or parry, and steeds yet willing staggered to a standstill. In this brilliant charge the enemy lost four hundred men, while the squadron of the Guides lost twenty of all ranks and thirty-seven horses. To their young leader, Lieutenant Walter Hamilton, was awarded the highest honour to which the soldier can aspire, the Victoria Cross, an honour which his brilliant conduct throughout the day had by universal admission thoroughly earned.

The first stage of the Afghan War ended with the treaty of Gandamak, signed in June 1879, one of the provisions of which was that a British Embassy, with a suitable escort, should be established at Kabul. And there on July 24 the British Envoy, Major Sir Louis Cavagnari, and the escort duly arrived, but not without grave apprehension as to their fate on the part of many who were unable to forget the long-drawn history of Afghan treachery. The escort consisted of twenty-five of all ranks of the Guides Cavalry, and fifty-two of all ranks of the Infantry of the Corps, under the command of Lieutenant Walter Hamilton, V.C. For a month all went well, and there were frequent interchanges of friendly visits. But rumours of impending trouble soon got about, until things came to a climax when, on the entry of the Amir’s Heratic regiments into the streets of Kabul, they set up loud cries of insult and abuse of Cavagnari, his staff, his escort, and of the whole detested race of Feringhis. But what could an escort of seventy-five men do against thousands, and tens of thousands, of armed men? They took the bold course which British Officers, before and since, have taken,—sat quietly, and with brave hearts faced the coming tragedy.

The storm burst with sudden and uncontrollable fierceness in the morning of September 3, when the ordinary routine of the day was going on. The Troopers were tending their horses, and the Infantry either on guard or taking their ease, when suddenly there rushed on the peaceful scene a torrent of mutinous, infuriated, half-savage, fanatical soldiery. Then came a shot, then another, and another, until the battle began—four British Officers and some seventy of the faithful Guides against countless thousands. The residency, officers' quarters, barracks, &c., consisted of a number of detached buildings—mere death-traps—commanded from several directions, against which surged in their thousands the infuriated fanatics, thirsting deep for Christian blood, and yelling the war-cry of the great Sunni sect of Mohammedans. On the other hand, there stood the young Irishman, Hamilton, who had hastily collected his threescore and ten men of the Guides, calm and steadfast; his followers men of an alien race, but all filled with high resolve and stern determination to stand by their British officers, even unto death. Unavailing were the repeated appeals to these brave men to desert. 'The Sahib gave us this duty to perform, to defend the Residency to the last,' was the reply of Jemadar Jeward Singh. Cavagnari, the first to seize a rifle, shot dead with quick precision, one after the other, four leaders of the assault, but was himself badly hit in the forehead by a splintered bullet. Yet he summoned enough strength to accompany Hamilton, Surgeon A. H. Kelly, Bengal Medical Department, and Mr. W. Jenkyns, C.I.E., Indian Civil Service, Political Officer, in a charge on the rebels, until another bullet laid him low and ended the fight for that brave soul. From this time the whole burden of defence lay on young Hamilton. A heavy rifle fire was poured on the garrison from the house-tops and loopholed walls while the assault continued, and an effort was made to fire the buildings. But though the attack waxed stronger and stronger for five hours, and though half the garrison were killed or wounded, no thought of surrender occurred to the stout hearts within.

There remained now in the fighting line only Hamilton, Jenkyns, a native non-commissioned officer, and some thirty of the Guides, for the doctor's whole time was occupied with the wounded. At this juncture loud and exulting shouts from the besiegers announced the arrival of their reinforcements with two guns, which were placed in position, barely a hundred yards from the gateway. Kelly left his wounded, and Jenkyns, the young civilian, took again a sword and pistol, and with Hamilton as their leader, and with twelve staunch and true men of the Guides behind them, they opened the door, quickly crossed the bullet-swept courtyard, and fell with fury on the amazed gunners. But though they fought like tigers, and even possessed themselves of the guns, they were unable to remove them, and were driven back. Here Surgeon Kelly received his mortal wound—physician and soldier, he died a hero's death.

General Younghusband gives a vivid description of what followed. All was not over, for Hamilton made preparations for a further attempt. Again they threw open the door, and again these two young Britishers at the head of their faithful few charged out on the guns, till, sword in hand, the gallant Jenkyns fell some seventy paces out. Then again began the dreadful heart-straining struggle of desperation for the guns, till the little band were a second time driven back. The flames had by this time got strong hold of the buildings, and here and there the roofs fell in, and dead and dying were entombed together. But, undefeated, Hamilton again laid his plans. His small remaining band of heroes were to try and bring in even one gun, while he alone faced the enemy. This was the fourth sortie he had led that day—the first with all four Englishmen in a line, the second with three, the third with two, and now alone. Over six feet in height, splendidly made, lithe and strong, with all the activity of youth, expert with sword and pistol, he was a noble specimen of the young British officer, and none more fit to stand in the deadly breach. For a third time these fatal guns were captured, and then alone to stem the fierce assault stood the hero, while his men laboured at the gun; but the odds were too great, and the gallant subaltern, after killing three men with his pistol and cutting down two more with his sword, was himself borne down to rise no more.

And so, fighting, died as brave a young heart as ever did honour to the uniform he wore. Swarming over his body the mutineers recaptured the guns, and again drove back the remnants of the forlorn hope, who, fighting to the last man, made their final stand on the roof of the Residency. Round them lay 600 dead, as silent witnesses of twelve hours' heroic fighting. Hamilton lay where he fell, close to the gun, till darkening night settled down on the dreadful scene. But on the following morning it was noticed that the brave young fellow's body was laid across the gun, perhaps by the rough chivalry of one who had watched his heroic deeds. A national memorial was raised to these deathless heroes on which is written: 'The annals of no army and no regiment can show a brighter record of devoted bravery than has been achieved by this small band of Guides.' A life-size statue of my school chum has been erected in the Museum in Dublin, the capital of his native country; his name is given to a road in the neighbourhood of Maidan, the quiet home of the Guides; and I had the small satisfaction of being instrumental in placing in the chapel of his old school a memorial window raised by his school-fellows:—

'Dulce et decorum est pro patriâ mori.'

OBITUARY.

Color-Sergeant Instructor of Musketry A. W. Dale died suddenly at Darjeeling on the 9th January 1914. He was a smart Non-Commissioned Officer, who always had the interest of the Corps at heart. Color-Sergeant Dale was an ex-soldier, and served in the Royal Sussex Regiment. He was for some years an Unattached List Instructor in the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles, and possessed the King's and Queen's South African Medals with Clasps and the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal.

Sergeant W. A. Bonnaud, "M" Company, died at Calcutta on the 10th September 1913. He was a very keen and popular Non-Commissioned Officer, had served for 22 years, and possessed the Volunteer Long Service Medal.

Corporal G. S. Gee, "A" Squadron, died suddenly at Calcutta on the 20th November 1913. An excellent horseman, very popular and capable. He joined the Corps on 11th November 1910, and was promoted Corporal on the 1st March 1913.

Corporal H. T. Potter, "K" Squadron, died at Darjeeling in January 1914. A keen and able Non-Commissioned Officer. He joined the Corps in June 1912 after having served several years in the Regular Army.

Trooper A. C. Humfry, "O" Squadron, died from fever in the Duars on 2nd September 1913. He joined the Northern Bengal Mounted Rifles in December 1908, was a good shot, and a very popular and keen Volunteer.

Trooper J. Wilson, "K" Squadron, died at Calcutta on the 12th October 1913. He joined the Corps on 15th June 1912, was a good horseman, and had served in the Royal Regiment of Artillery.

Reservist W. Green died at Darjeeling on the 22nd March 1914. He served in the Indian Mutiny, Persian War, Bhutan War, and Sikkim. In addition to Medals for these Campaigns he was also in possession of the Volunteer Long Service Medal. Reservist Green joined the Corps in 1879, and served until his death.

Cadet F. H. Allum, "E" Company, was laid to rest in Darjeeling Cemetery with Military Honours on the 7th May 1913. A very promising Cadet, who is sadly missed by all his comrades.

Cadet E. Ellis, "O" Company, died at Kurseong on 23rd February 1914. A keen cadet, whose death is deeply regretted.
